DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
  - I. Claims 36-54, drawn to a pad, classified in class 2, subclass 267.
  - II. Claim 55, drawn to a pad that is adhesively attached to a user, classified in class 2, subclass 244.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

2. Inventions group I and group II are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different designs, modes of operation, and effects (MPEP § 802.01 and § 806.06). In the instant case, the different inventions the pad on group I can be any pad used for any purpose the pad of group II is a pad used with the human body and attachable thereto. The pad of group I does not need to protect a user's body or attach thereto.
3. Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and there would be a serious burden on the examiner if restriction is not required because the inventions require a different field of search (see MPEP § 808.02), restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Election of Species

4. This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species: (only if group I is selected from above)

Select one of the following (a or b or c or d):

- a) Claims 39-40: knee protector
- b) Claims 41, 42 and 44: Elbow protector
- c ) Claims 43: Shin protector
- d) Claims 47-49 and 51: Foot protector

Additionally, Select one of the following (a or b)

- a) claim 45: gel cushioning material
- b) claim 46: magnetic cushioning material

Examiner notes that claim 50 is dependent upon claim 37. Claim 50 defines a ground contacting base as having a durable and flexible character. Claim 37 defines a protective base being a protective shell. It is unclear how the protective ground contacting base can be both flexible, durable and a protective shell. If claim 37 is incorrectly depending upon claim 37 and is dependent upon another claim, there would be an election of species requirement between the ground contacting base being either a) flexible and durable or b) a protective shell.

The species are independent or distinct because a-d from above all deal with different types of body protectors.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, claim 36 is generic.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.
